

CALL FOR SUBMISSION OF ARTICLES (INFLEXION Journal)

1- First Issue of the ENA RDC Scientific Journal - INFLEXION

The National School of Administration "ENA" announces the launch of the first issue of its scientific journal, INFLEXION, established on February 3, 2025. Researchers, practitioners, educators, and experts in public administration, governance, law, economics, public finance, public policy, and related fields are invited to submit their scholarly articles.

2- About the INFLEXION Journal

INFLEXION aims to serve as a platform for reflection and scientific debate on the transformation dynamics of public administration, institutional reforms, and contemporary governance and public policies issues. Published biannually (in June and December), INFLEXION features original, internationally standard articles that enhance understanding of administrative, economic, and social phenomena, focusing on the Congolese and African contexts to improve governance and public management practices.

3- Submission standards and processes

Submitted articles must be well-structured and adhere to academic standards and the editorial guidelines outlined in the journal's Charter, which authors are strongly encouraged to read at <https://ena.cd>.

All manuscripts undergo a rigorous double-blind peer review process to ensure scientific quality.

Articles can be submitted in French or English, with an abstract in both languages.
